Chicago Grain Trader Calls Farm Program "Economic Disaster"

St. Louis, Sept. 19 (AP). C. D. Sturtevant, Chicago grain trader, charged the administration's farm program was an "economic disaster" in an address prepared for delivery before the Grain Dealers' National Association today.

He called upon the President to redeem his pledge and retrace his steps in the light of the "fair administrative trial" accorded the experiment.

Sturtevant, chairman of the grain committee on national affairs, gave the record of the AAA before the annual convention of grain men, and then quoted President Roosevelt's letter to Congress of March 16, 1933, transmitting the draft of the bill, in which he wrote:

"I tell you frankly that it is a new and untrodden path—if a fair administrative trial of it is made, and it does not produce the hoped-for results, I shall be the first to acknowledge it and advise you."

"The hour has arrived to turn back," said Sturtevant, "I affirm the method aimed at has failed, and the method of balancing supply and demand has been an economic tragedy."

He presented government figures showing that when the AAA began functioning in July, 1933, the index grain price received by the farmer was 84 based on prewar levels, and he was paying 107 for what he must buy.

"After two years," Sturtevant said, "the farmer is receiving 102 per cent of prewar grain prices, and is paying 127 per cent for the products he must buy, a dreadful disparity."

Two short grain crops in the interim, he said, would have adjusted the disparity to normal "had it not been for the tragic blunders of brain trusters and economic dance of whirling dervises."

He said that acreage slashes and drought had reduced production below domestic needs, giving us "a dangerously low margin of food safety," and ballooning prices to the consumer.

"Today grain is being imported. Six million pigs and 200,000 pregnant sows were slaughtered, destroying meat value and reproduction values. So pork now becomes a luxury. Canadian hogs roll in over our tariff, hams from Poland bedeck the retail shops as bewildered housewives try desperately to stretch budgets. Cotton farmers, like grain farmers, have lost their foreign markets. In comparison with all this, Alice in Wonderland is economic sanity.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Taxpayers' Friend
Fairfield, Conn.—The city hall's new septic tank system cost Fairfield nothing.

The architect favored a New York product, so Mitchell B. Stock, local company manager, said he would give him to the city rather than see the contract go out of town.

He did, even to handling a pick and shovel with his men.

Every Home Needs This Help

HELP THAT NEVER TAKES A HOLIDAY

Twenty-four hours a day—seven days a week—a telephone in the house can help every member of your family.

During the day—when there's so much to do in every household—a telephone runs errands, saves trips in bad weather, buys household necessities, keeps you in touch with friends, makes it easy for friends to keep in touch with you.

In the evening, too, you can ask friends over for a game of bridge, take care of a business matter you didn't finish during the day, or call up and enjoy a chat with a friend or relative near or far.

And at night, don't forget that your telephone is always on duty as a protector in case of sudden illness, a fire or other emergency.

This constant help costs only a few cents a day, possibly no more than you and your family now spend on calls from public telephones. Why not order yours today and have your name in the next issue of the telephone directory? Come in and see us, or ask any telephone employee for additional information. New York Telephone Company.

Temple Emanuel Services Announced

Services will be held in Temple Emanuel on Friday evening, September 20, at 7:30. The public is cordially invited. Rabbi Bloom will preach on the theme "The Constitution vs. Prejudice", a discussion of the American view of natural rights as opposed to the totalitarian state. The discourse will deal with the manner in which the United States has adhered to and diverged from the spirit of the Founding Fathers. The Religious School of Temple Emanuel will open on Sunday, September 22, at 10 o'clock. All children desiring to attend the Religious School will have to be registered at that time. Any Jewish child is welcome to attend.

Night Club Destroyed

Monmouth Beach, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—Fire destroyed Vivian Johnson's luxuriously furnished night club today at a loss estimated by Fire Chief Harry Woolley at $150,000. Vivian Johnson's long a fashionable gathering place for summer residents of the New Jersey seashore, was closed for the season early this month.

DROP "3 R" SYSTEM IN INDIAN SCHOOLS

New Deal in Education Is Based on Real Needs.

Tucson, Ariz.—The "Little Red Schoolhouse," in its strictest sense, is on the way out among northeastern Arizona's Indians.

A "new deal" program calls for abandonment of strict schooling, compulsory attendance and outlined curricula. In place of the "three R's" the Indians will be taught subjects of more practical application to their mode of living, such as soil erosion, sewing, weaving, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding live stock and kindred subjects.

News of the government's change of policy was brought here by Dr. John H. Province, assistant professor of archeology at University of Arizona, who spent six weeks recently in "the land nobody wants."

Retain Culture. "Probably the only tribes in either New Mexico or Arizona that have retained their culture," Doctor Province said, "are the Pueblo Indians, with the Hopi tribe as the most outstanding."

"The Hopi never have had lands anyone wanted, so they have been able to keep a high integration among themselves. Some of the New Mexico Pueblo people have become completely Mexicanized, but the sad part of this is the Mexicans after whom they have patterned and into whose social scheme they have fitted themselves are of the peon class. The Indians' own culture was of a far higher standard."

"The government's program of education under the New Deal is, however, a sensible and direct approach to changing the whole Indian life pattern. Books have been dispensed with temporarily, as will the boarding schools as time goes on."

"The system is to erect the school, probably with Indian labor, put in the benches and desks, but leave the actual arrangement to the students. Then the subjects to be taught will be given by demonstration methods closely akin to their own way of doing things by actual participation rather than learning about it from books."

Practical Subjects. "They will be taught soil erosion, sewing, weaving, protection of moisture in the soil, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding of live stock and every other subject that is in direct relation to their tribal lives."

"There will be no compulsory attendance and there will be no age limits. Old and young may go and there will be no grades, only groups. Divisions into groups will be by interests."

The "new deal" plan of teaching the Indians, many educators here believed, will permit the tribes to retain to a large extent their native culture and traditions, while, at the same time, instructing them in modern methods of doing the things they have done for countless centuries.

At the same time, gradually, the Indians may be moulded into the modern American pattern of life, but not with the loss of their own distinctive culture, it is believed.

The new type of schools, according to Doctor Province, will be scattered about Indian reservations and will be headed by students in ethnology who have a definite flair for instructing aborigines.

Menu for a Walrus Is Flashed to Wild Arctic

New York.—Capt. Bob Bartlett in the Arctic paging Doctor Dufce!

Or so it seemed at amateur radio station W2GON, operated by J. E. Preston at North Arlington, N. J.

A message from Bartlett aboard his explorer, the S. S. Morrissey, to Dr. William Reid Blair, of the New York zoological park, read:

"Have baby walrus on board which I want to bring to you. Little devil won't drink milk. Can't get him to eat. Can you suggest method of feeding?"

Then the reply: "Feed baby walrus shredded codfish six times a day. Mash fish and serve in small quantities. Increase until he takes four or five pounds a day."

Capt. B: "Little devil perking up; likes codfish."

Dr. B: "Might vary diet with soft-shelled clams."

Capt. B: "He eats clams, shells and all."

Dr. B: "Take off the shells."

Boy's Stomach, Heart and Liver Are on Wrong Side

Minneapolis.—When four-year-old Ronald Shultz "crosses his heart" he does it on the right side of his chest. Ronald's heart, stomach, liver and spleen are reversed.

Except for the placement of these organs on the right side of his body, Ronald is entirely normal. The condition does not interfere in his play with the children of the neighborhood.

Physicians and surgeons of the University hospital and others have had the boy under repeated observation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shultz.

Convicts Turn to Books

Jackson, Mich.—An average of more than 32,000 books a month are borrowed from the state prison library by inmates. Librarian J. M. Lindon much reports. The library numbers about 275,000 volumes, said to be one of the best in the world.

In British Columbia commercial fruit growing is of comparatively recent origin, but the development of commercial orcharding has been very rapid, especially during the last ten years. The most noted fruit district is that of the Okanagan Valley. Pears, plums, peaches, apricots, cherries and small fruits are also grown on a large scale.

Patrick Rock Hurt in Fall from a Box Car

The police department received a telephone call Wednesday afternoon stating that a man, apparently injured, was lying on the ground in the rear of the West Shore railroad yard office, and asking that an officer and an ambulance be sent. The W. N. Conner ambulance was called and removed Patrick Rock to the Kingston Hospital. Officers Burger and Entrott in one of the police radio cars also responded to the call. According to the police report Rock was asleep in one of the freight cars and had become entangled in some wire and fell out of the car. He sustained a bloody nose and other minor hurts.

HIS EXCELLENCY--

HEM AND AMY

THE MASTER MIND

By Frank H. Beck.

THE GOVERNOR OF MONTANA.

When most of his fellow townsmen still are slumbering, Gov. Frank H. Cooney of Montana, has done a good half-day's work . . . arrives at his desk about 6 o'clock each morning. The Montanan, head of one of the northwest's largest grocery brokerage firms, learned at an early age the value of system and this he methodically applies in the executive's office. Born in Norwood, Ontario, December 31, 1872, Cooney came to Butte with his family when a youngster of ten . . . already he had mastered fundamentals of the provision business as a delivery boy at $4 a month in Canada and this training he later utilized as the Montana Cooney company took shape . . . To the governor and Mrs. Cooney were born five sons and two daughters . . . all are living except one son who was killed in an auto accident a year ago. The governor's term expires in January, 1937.

ZENA.

Zena, Sept. 19.—Service in the Reformed Church of Zena has been changed to 2 p. m. on Sunday afternoon. Sunday School will be started later. Announcement will be made. Mrs. George Braendley is still quite ill and under the care of Dr. George Lambert.

John Varney and Martin Youngs are spending a few days at the Varney home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman and family have returned to their home here after a visit in New York city while extensive improvements were being made to their place.

Mr. and Mrs. Dittman and daughter, Patricia; Miss Madeline Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Cheris Wray and daughter, Nancy, all of New York city, spent the week-end at Miss Briggs' cottage. Mr. and Mrs. C. Elsenhart, who have been spending the week at the Briggs cottage, returned with the rest of the party on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Roberts of Sawkill, Fred Roberts of Brooklyn, mother and brother of Mrs. William Williams of Chestnut Hill, also Miss Kay Townsend of Brooklyn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gaddis and children, also friend, spent Sunday evening with the Williams.

Frank Tichenor and Miss Anne Reinhold spent Sunday on the Tichenor farm.

Mrs. A. Lang, mother of Mrs. Braendley, came up from Staten Island on Thursday afternoon, returning the next day.

Miss Anna Lyons of New York city spent the week-end with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tinken at the Braendley home.

TRAVEL BUREAU MULCTED BY AUSTRIA'S HIGH COURT

Vienna (AP).—Austrian travel bureaus are responsible for the information they give, the supreme court has ruled.

A further ordered tickets to Helsingfors in a Vienna travel bureau. The route recommended to him included an airplane ride from Tallin to Helsingfors.

But when he arrived at Tallin he was told there was airplane service only in the winter months, when the sea is impassable for steamers.

It was much too late to reach Finland in time for the fur season and so he returned to Vienna, sued the travel bureau and won damages.

Brazil's White Russians Red.

Porto Alegre, Brazil (P).—Raiding the Ukrainian White Russian Union's headquarters here, the police charged that the group communicated with Communists in Montevideo, Uruguay, and had received funds from a Communist paper published in Belem, capital of the north Brazilian state of Para.

Except for the Canadian National Exhibition, the Dionne Quintuplets proved the greatest single tourist attraction in Canada during 1935, according to Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe, physician to the five famous sisters. Dr. Dufoe who was recently invested with the Order of the British Empire by the King of England, stated that more than 200,000 people had motored to Callander to see the children this summer and that 60 per cent were from the United States.

Settlement Made In Assault Action

An assault action brought by Morris Gerchman against Mike Bielek, scheduled for trial this morning in county court, was settled Wednesday and Judge Tracy was so notified and as this was the only case set down for trial today he did not make the trip from Hudson but authorized Deputy Clerk O'Connor to adjourn the court until Friday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the jurors will be present. Judge Tracy is presiding due to the injury which County Judge Traver received several days ago.

When court convened at 10 this morning, Mr. O'Connor excused the jurors until Friday morning and adjourned the court until that time.

Scheduled for trial Friday are two actions, National Surety Co. against Emma Dobert Webster and Emma H. Dobert. Both are actions on contract.

BLUE-EYED TOT OF THREE GIVES CONGRESS LOWDOWN.

Gering, Neb., Sept. 19 (AP).—A blue-eyed tot of three was the talk of the town today after amazing district court officials and spectators with her quick and accurate responses to impromptu questions about American government.

Frightened by spectators and clinging to her father's hand, the child, Mary Reichert, stood beside Judge George Irwin's desk and replied off answers to questions, using words she could barely pronounce. "Who is speaker of the House?" her father asked.

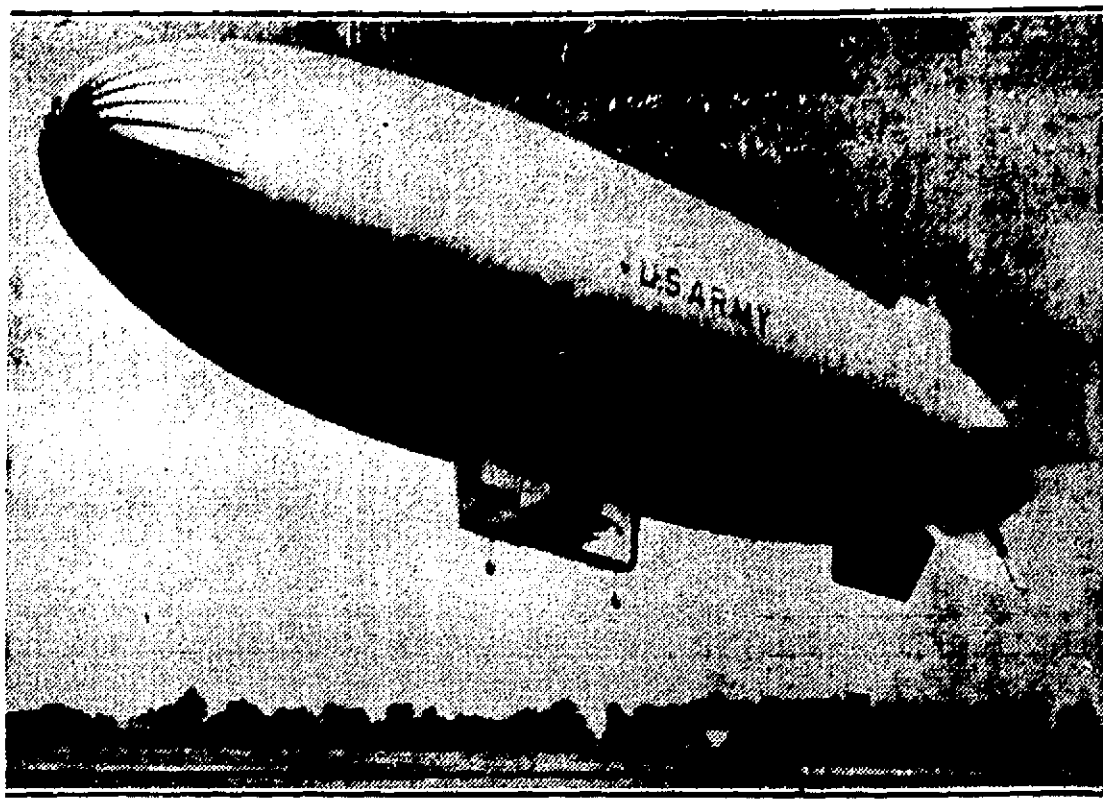

"Byrnes is," she replied, brushing an unruly blond curl from her eyes.

"What does Congress do?"

"Makes laws."

States' New Dealers Pledge Good Fight To Control Assembly

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 19 (P). An off year platform pledging continuance of "enlightened and humane government" was in the making today as New Dealers of President Roosevelt's home state gathered here for a huge rally tomorrow and Saturday formally opening the Democratic fight for continued control of the state assembly in 1936.

The platform is being drafted by a committee of the Democratic lawyers' group headed by Robert H. Jackson, counsel for the Internal Revenue Bureau, for presentation to the gathering probably on Saturday.

While details were still closely guarded by committee members, the party is considered likely to pledge.

Continued approval of progressive legislation such as passed at the 1936 legislative session, claimed by Democrats to be of greatest importance in 20 years.

Passage of "fair" legislative and congressional reapportionment measures, beaten last year by Tammany and Republican opposition.

Approval of legislation to protect New York dairy farmers in competition with cheap milk producers of neighboring states.

Support of Attorney General John J. Bennett's program to stamp out crime.

At the same time, the lawyers' group and other New Deal chieftains were considered likely to discuss behind closed doors the long discussed constitutional issue.

This will follow closely the utterance by Secretary Roper that the issue of a constitutional amendment permitting "bold, direct action" in times of "acute, national distress" is a dominant question which sooner or later must be answered by the people.

Upwards of 15,000 persons from every section of the state are expected to aid the party fire its opening assembly campaign broadsides in this strong Republican southern New York area, home of Republican state chairman Melvin C. Eaton.

Eaton, whose home is at Norwich, 15 miles from here, has been personally directing a most intensive campaign for recapture of the now Democratic-controlled assembly, injecting both state and national issues.

Farley Conference.

Most of the leaders are expected to arrive by nightfall, prepared for individual conferences tomorrow with Postmaster General James A. Farley, state and national Democratic chairman.

Farley is due early tomorrow. Business meetings of the lawyers' group, Union of Democratic Clubs and the Democratic Veterans' League will occupy most of the first day, with reports on the state situation to be drafted by all three.

On Saturday afternoon, the delegates will gather in a park at suburban Endicott to hear talks by Farley, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine, Attorney General Bennett, Democratic Senate Leader John J. Dunningan, Assembly Speaker Irwin Steingut, Lieutenant Governor M. William Bray and Representative-at-Large Caroline O'Day. Mayor John Boyd Thacher of Albany will deliver the keynote address, the same as he did a year ago at the Democratic state convention at Buffalo.

Radio Commentator Brings Hope to Sufferers from Arthritis and Rheumatic Ailments

New York, N. Y., September 19th, 1935—Ann Burton, well-known radio commentator, speaking over a large New York Radio Station said: "A new and wonderful device known as Diathermy, used in hospital, physician's office and home has brought hope to thousands suffering from arthritis and other rheumatic ailments."

"Diathermy is the scientific name for 'deep heat.' It is not like the surface treatment of baking lamps, liniments or hot applications. Only Diathermy's ultra-modern radio waves, bringing their soothing power to the relief of pain, can convey heat through the skin and pass it in any particular part of the body deep down to the very center of an aching muscle, nerve, sinew or bone, down into the tortured rheumatic joint itself.

"But relief from pain is merely a happy incident in the application of deep heat. More vital, far, is Diathermy's attack on the disease itself. For this soothing penetrating warmth gently expands blood vessels, stimulating circulation of the blood and increasing the blood supply at the diseased knee, elbow, shoulder or back or wrist. More blood there means stronger blood—reinforcements with which to battle the microbes of disease and to carry off the poisons painfully lodged there. That is why Diathermy has won its high laurels in the medical world. That is why Diathermy is used by leading hospitals and physicians in the treatment of tens of thousands of sufferers.

"But another of the wonderful achievements of modern science has been to create a home model Diathermy machine. For many simply cannot go to hospitals. Now you can have the Simplex machine right in your own home. But most important Simplex helps you find out free of all cost if Diathermy will help you. True, thousands have found relief, but will the Simplex help you? The Simplex people are glad to offer you a FREE demonstration to find out. Remember, too, the Simplex Company operates with the consent and supervision of the medical profession.

"So write at once for complete information or to arrange for a home demonstration. Write to the Simplex Diathermy Company or just to 'Simplex,' General Motors Building, New York City."

Sufferers of arthritis, rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis, high blood pressure or lumbago are urged to write the Simplex Company, General Motors Building, New York City, for details at once. Special arrangements have been made for immediate attention to all inquiries from Kingston and vicinity.—Ad.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROSS COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Her English folks think it is "frantically amusing" that their Frances is a screen actress, but Frances Drake thinks it isn't "amusing" at all—quite the contrary. It's very serious.

No, she herself is not deadly serious about it all. She is a bright young girl (with a pretty face the critics invariably call "interesting") and she thinks it is amusing that her parents and her grandmother think that her working in pictures is amusing.

Frances Morgan-Dean, born in New York of English parents—her father was in Wall Street—grew up in Canada where her parents moved, but when she was 14 she was sent to school in England, under her grandmother's wing. She was meant to make a society debut, get married and settle down, but she would have none of it. When the opportunity came to be partner in a dancing act, she took it, and Grandmother thought that was all right, because it was very graceful ballroom dancing.

Grandmother, who is about 75, seems to be quite a character. She gets around, writes books and plays, has decided opinions, and is out of a book, as Frances tells her. For instance, when a friend of Grandmother's lost an umbrella, she went down to the editor of a conservative London newspaper and convinced the journalists that something should be done about it. So there was a front-page story about Grandmother's friend's lost umbrella, "and who in the world, except Grandmother, could do such a thing?" is Frances's justifiable exclamation.

'Good Notices' In not quite two years here Miss Drake has played a variety of roles including one or two of those "women one doesn't meet" by Grandmother's standards. Some of her pictures have been poor, but Frances Drake always gets "good notices."

If Grandmother has a mind of her own, so has Frances. In mid-ocean on her way to Hollywood, she received a cable from Paramount informing her that she was to be "Marianne Morel" henceforth. But Marianne Morel did not get off that boat. She would have nothing to do with any name "so obviously out of a paper-back romance." She hid away and went to visit her parents in Canada. When all finally agreed on Frances Drake—a coincidence because Sir Henry Morgan, the famed pirate, is one of her ancestors—she returned to New York.

The giant cactus of southern Arizona and southeastern California grows sometimes to a height of 70 feet.

It's just as well to see the last of those "Liberty Bells" wiped out. They brought as much tyranny as liberty into the world.

On The Radio Day By Day

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

Time is Eastern Daylight Saving.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, speaking from Oakland, Calif., has just been scheduled for another broadcast. His immediate hearers will be the Young Republicans Assembly of California, with the broadcast going out via WJZ-NBC the night of October 5. On Tuesday he discussed the Constitution in a WABC-CBS transmission.

John T. Wittaker, New York Herald-Tribune correspondent, is to talk from Rome at 6 p. m., Friday, about what he saw on his recent visit to Eritrea, Italian colony in Africa, bordering on Ethiopia. . . . Up at NBC they're still auditioning to pick an announcer to give a blow by blow account in the broadcast of the Baer-Louis fight on Tuesday night. . . . With New York's annual radio show and all of the new gadgets, sets, metal tubes, etc., in session until a week from Saturday, the networks are broadcasting some of their features from a glass-enclosed studio at the exhibition.

Events Around The Empire State

Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP).—Members of the Adirondack Reports Association met here today to draw up the association's program for the coming year and discuss the amount of money to be spent to advertise the region.

Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP).—The Republican candidates for supervisor in Rye, near here, probably will be decided by drawing lots out of a hat tonight because Warren Bolton of Gasport and J. E. Hollinger of Middleport received 317 votes each in Tuesday's primary.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP).—A general upswing in wages, working hours and actual construction work in New York state was reported today by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews.

There was a 3.4 increase in the number of workers during August, compared to July, Andrews said, while payrolls advanced 4.5 per cent. Man-hours increased 4.8 per cent.

Andrews also reported a marked increase in highway construction with 2.2 per cent more workers, a 7.7 per cent increase in pay rolls and an 8.6 per cent rise in man-hours.

A Fish Broadside

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 19 (AP).—Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, leveled a broadside at Roosevelt administration policies last night and called on voters of all political parties to join forces "to throw the 'New Dealers' out."

"No Twist" Electric Cord
Chicago (AP)—An electric plug which allows the cord to turn round and round without twisting is being shown here.

Sybil Jason Writes Her Own Scenarios; Powell And Cagney Get Minor Roles

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — It six-year-old Sybil Jason lives up to Warner expectations as a result of her first Hollywood film, "The Little Big Shot," that studio can drop from the race for "another Shirley Temple."

Sybil is from Capetown, South Africa, by way of England, where she played bits in a couple of English movies.

She is now engaged in her second movie here, a rather smaller role than her first, but that is to fill in the time while public reaction to her first appearance determines whether she is to be launched as a star in her third feature.

Her sister, Nita, 21, and her uncle, Harry Jacobson, 25, who brought her to Hollywood, are not sure that the good fortune so far distinguishing her brief career will continue, and Nita describes their future plans as "at sixes and sevens, all depending."

'Very First Scene'

On the set, where Sybil likes to stay whether she is working or not, she labors on what she calls "scenarios." With little provocation one of them, done in pencil in a notebook, will be brought from a black suitcase for display. From what is marked as "The very first scene" to what is not yet the very last scene covers a bloody recital of an automobile wreck, an operation on the heroine, and a happy ending, all in the space of six or seven pages. Sybil's cast includes Sister Nita and Uncle Harry in important roles while such stars as James Cagney and Dick Powell are relegated to minor assignments.

"I'm not in it—I'm going to be director," she explains in precise British tones.

She will not be a director, however, when she grows up.

'Misses Parents' Now

"I love acting best," she says. "I love acting because it is fun and not hard and it is such good company."

The child is still so new at the business of being interviewed that she answers questions always with an arch glance for approval at Nita or Uncle Harry. To a previous interviewer, who asked whether she missed her parents and friends in Capetown, she apparently made an error when she replied "Oh, no, never." For now she misses them very much indeed. (Which is one argument against interviewing child players.)

But she really seemed not to know or care about fan letters, although Sister Nita said Sybil already had received quite a few. In reply to that question, the child said she often got letters from mother and other people at home.

Knee-Action Carpet Sweeper

Chicago (AP)—A new carpet sweeper features a handle with a "knee" joint which allows the sweeper to run under furniture pieces while the operator stands upright.

Gershwin Completes Opera, 'Porgy and Bess'

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—George Gershwin finds his life "a little empty" now that his first opera has been completed.

But the fact that he has finished composing "Porgy and Bess" after two years of work does not mean that it is out of his life. It is in rehearsal, and Gershwin is taking a leading part in its production.

The cast, with the exception of four minor parts, is composed of negroes chosen from among comparative unknowns by Gershwin, who has definite ideas of what he wants. Chewing gum with rapid rhythm, Gershwin checked up while Rouben Mamoulian led the cast through the catfish row scene and Alexander Smallens directed a player at the tinkling piano.

"It's an American opera trying to depict an American scene in a purely American way," Gershwin said. "I've taken advantage of the spiritual quality of colored singing and the blues quality and combined them with what I know about American song-writing."

"America is so vast that it has many component parts and I certainly think the negro is the one most possible to write an opera around. They've tried the Indian dozens of times, but unfortunately with very little success."

Other American themes which Gershwin thought had operatic possibilities were the Puritanical New England, the northwest woodsmen and "The Cosmopolitan Life of New York and Chicago."

"Porgy and Bess" is based on Du Bose Heyward's "Porgy" and Heyward wrote the libretto.

It is scheduled to open in Boston September 30.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO SHORTENING PRICES?

✓ Most cooking fat prices have gone up and up!
✓ But CRISCO hasn't! Look at ITS price today.

"The way prices are I now use nothing but Crisco for all my baking and frying."

"I've always wanted that extra Crisco goodness in my cooking and now I'm getting it—without paying extra!"

"Yes, Mrs. Brown, Crisco is certainly the best shortening value in my store today. And how it's selling! That Crisco display disappears as fast as I can build it."

"I use the 3-lb. can. That way I get Crisco at its lowest price per pound."

SOMETHING'S been happening to shortening prices! Ask your dealer about it. Ask him the prices of Crisco—and other cooking fats. You'll find that recently most shortenings have gone way, way up. But that's not true with Crisco. Today Crisco, the finest of all shortenings, probably costs you no more than ordinary shortenings. In fact—if you buy light, digestible Crisco in the big three-pound can—it may even cost you less.

Prompt Control Is Recommended

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 19.—"Hundreds of dairy cattle breeders in this state are missing an opportunity to stamp out Bang's disease before it begins to spread," says Dr. R. R. Birch, of the New York State Veterinary College. The elimination of Bang's disease in his opinion can be brought about more rapidly and with less loss while the disease is dormant and when the number of reactors is limited, than is possible at a time when the disease is active with a "storm" of trouble in progress.

Some time ago, Dr. Birch points out, all cattle in an entire township in western New York were tested for Bang's disease. The results showed that out of 119 herds averaging 20 cattle to the herd, 37 herds had no reactors; 19 had but one reactor; 14 had only two; ten herds, three; seven herds, four; seven herds, five; and but 25 herds more than five reactors.

This shows, according to Dr. Birch, that the great majority of herds are entirely free of Bang's disease or have but a comparatively few infected cattle. But these few, he warns, are a constant source of danger to the others in the herd as they are likely to spread the malady. The quicker these few infected cattle can be detected and removed from the disease-free group, the better, he says. To wait until the disease becomes serious before control is attempted is a mistake. While the disease is dormant and when the number of diseased cattle is limited, a control program can best be started. The elimination of the disease from the herd will take less time and the losses will be greatly reduced.

Bang's disease causes heavy losses each year to dairy farmers, he points out. Lower milk production, breeding troubles, sterility, loss of calves and lower breeding efficiency all take their toll. Fortunately, only about 16 per cent of New York cattle show infection. These 16 per cent, however, remain a source of danger to the other 84 per cent that are free of infection.

Year In Prison Leaves Hauptmann Pallid, But Still Calm And Stoical

By JOHN FERRIS

Trenton, (AP)—Twelve months behind bars, seven of them with a death sentence hanging over his head, have done little to solve the riddle that is Bruno Richard Hauptmann. He was arrested September 19, 1934.

His year of legal strife has left him outwardly unchanged, save for the minor changes attendant on imprisonment. His hair is closely shorn today and his face has the pallor of the death house. But as he

FREEDOM "IN CARDS," SAYS BRUNO'S WIFE

New York, (AP)—Anna Hauptmann, wife of the convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, believes she, her husband and their 22-month-old son, Mannfried, soon will go on a long ocean voyage. "It's in the cards," she said, showing visible traces of her year of fighting to save her husband (Hauptmann was arrested September 19, 1934).

"I don't believe in fortune telling, but a woman recently found in my cards that Richard will be home soon as a result of an awfully big, surprising thing. Then we shall all go on a long ocean trip. I know that will be true."

Mrs. Hauptmann sees her husband in the death house at Trenton once, sometimes twice, a month, as often as prison authorities allow. She receives mail from him about as often. Using her maiden name, Anna Schoeffler, to avoid publicity, she lives with her baby in a Bronx apartment.

awaits the decision of the court of errors and appeals, expected next month, he is calm and as stoical as he was during his long trial at Flemington.

Hauptmann's confidence in his destiny may have been shaken that night of February 13 when he heard a jury of eight men and four women utter their conviction of his guilt in the Lindbergh kidnap-slaving, and heard himself sentenced to death. But he quickly recovered.

Called Ideal Prisoner.

His jailers say he is an ideal prisoner. He asks no favors and he expects none. One prison official thinks his behavior may be traced to his war-time training in the German army.

Hauptmann has changed but little since he entered the death house at Trenton seven months ago when this picture was taken. His hair is closely cropped, he is paler and he has gained 10 pounds.

He talks quietly to his guards and to Col. Mark O. Kimberling, the warden. He has professed his innocence many times.

Physically he is probably as fit as he was that September day a year ago when he was halted and handcuffed on a Bronx street. His strong will is accountable for that. Hauptmann perhaps has never relaxed since he was imprisoned.

When he was brought to Flemington a month after his arrest he began losing weight, but he kept his mind occupied with his approaching trial. He read books and improved his English. He also exercised Exercises Conscientiously.

In the past seven months, he has exercised conscientiously, strapping to the waist in his cell. This, along with the visits of his wife Anna, his interest in his son, Mannfried in his appeal and in the autobiography he has been writing have helped him considerably to master his emotions and keep him from despair.

Four men have gone to death past his cell. Three went one night Hauptmann was unmoved. He told them to "pray to God" and shook hands with the condemned, but his face was set.

A slight spiritual change is said to have taken place in him. He reads the Bible and religious books, brought him by the Rev. D. G. Werner of New York, his spiritual adviser.

Once, Mrs. Hauptmann said, she found her husband weeping. His cell walls are plastered with photographs of Mannfried.

Has Gained 10 Pounds.

His lawyer, C. Lloyd Fisher, says Hauptmann feels no bitterness towards anyone, save the federal agent, Thomas H. Sisk, whose testimony at the trial moved Hauptmann to cry out he was lying.

He has gained 10 pounds in the death house (most prisoners do gain weight), and all his visitors invariably say he looks well and is cheerful.

Next month he will know if he is to get a new trial. Meanwhile he waits.

RICHFIELD OCTANE

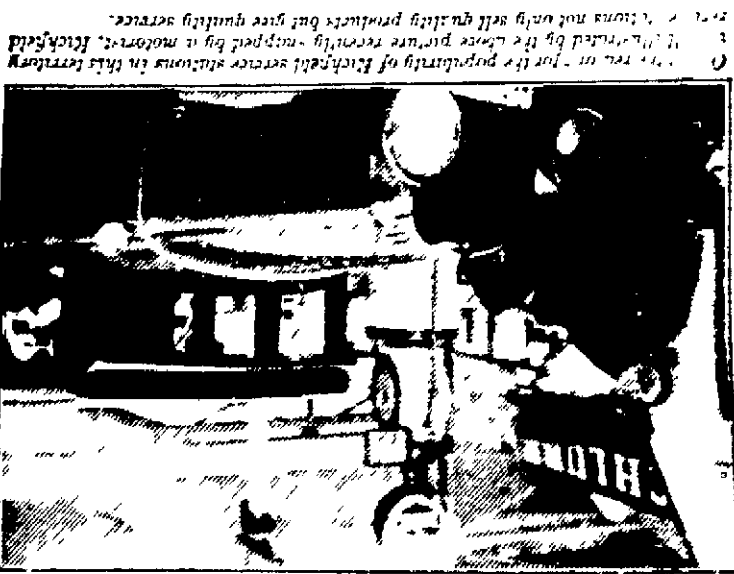

FATAL INJURY LED TO INVENTION OF SELF-STARTER

In 1910 a woman stalled her automobile on one of the main streets of a Michigan city. A pedestrian passing by offered to crank the car for her. He spun the crank, but as the woman had failed to retard the spark of the car, the crank kicked back and struck him on the head. The injury resulted in his death. A friend of the dead man, deeply grieved at his death, conceived the idea of the self-starter.

A year later he developed a practical model and successfully demonstrated it to one of the leading automobile companies. The next step in easy starting was the development of a quick-start gasoline.

Richfield Hi-Octane is the quiet, fast, "premium performing" gasoline. Extra cool.

HOME INSTITUTE BOOKLET TEACHES HOW TO DO EMBROIDERY STITCHES

JAUNTY SAILING SHIPS IN CROSS-STITCH

Trim little ships, sailing calmly again to the right. Do each row over household linens. Perhaps—who knows?—they're carrying cargoes of good fortune. Aren't they jaunty and cheering? They are embroidered in simple cross-stitch, and are breezily nautical in red, blue, and white. The large stitches, worked above the ship motif, show how easy cross-stitch really is. Just remember that all the crosses must be even in size. (Make sure of this by counting threads, or tracing cross-stitch design on your material). Be sure that all the lower stitches slant in one direction; the upper stitches in the opposite direction. Notice that the lower stitches of all the crosses in a row are worked first, and that these stitches slant up, from right to left.

How To Do Stitches

Begin by bringing your thread through material at lower-right corner of first cross in each row. Then put needle in again at top left of same cross, and bring it out directly underneath—at point that will start the second stitch. Continue making these stitches across the row. Then work back

MODES of the moment

Children's coats go English. Diana Morwin

Children's new coat fashions for chilly weather are definitely "English" in theme, a majority of the latest styles using much favored tweed fabrics in double breasted, semi-fitted models with smartly flaring hemlines. Tiny shoulder capelets appear, too, on some coats and are strongly endorsed, along with the military trend, which is also receiving much attention in women's apparel modes for the new season. The little miss, standing at the left, is stylishly outfitted in a fur-trimmed coat and hat of brown, all wool tweed. A chic shoulder capelet adds a smart touch as well as warmth to this double-breasted model that flares fashionably at the bottom. Alaskan seal trims the high-topped collar and covers the buttons, while her matching hat with stitched, up-turned brim is also trimmed with a fur button at the right side. At the right is pictured a new coat in military expression. This double-breasted model of tweed woolen is semi-fitted in the English manner, using mulberry velvet trimmings and two-toned buttons. It flares gracefully at the hemline and there are two handy slash pockets. The matching tweed hat features a stitched brim, corded crown and tailored self-bow at the front.

Pattern No. 1754-B

Street Dress for the Older Woman

A very large woman could wear this dress as well as the average figure, and know that she loses pounds in appearance, at least. Do you see the pointed line of the back section? And that they meet to make one long line that extends from waist to hem? And then the two points in the blouse front, which make the waist appear much slimmer than it really is. The V neck and the wide, low collar create the same illusion, and the long, plain sleeves, and skirt which fits smoothly over the hips all help to make a really splendid frock. The belt should be narrow, and the buckle not too conspicuous, but the buttons which fasten the low neck together may be as ornamental as you like.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1754-B is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires about 4 1/4 yards of 39-inch material.

BATHROOM MAY BE EASILY IMPROVED

There is no room in the house which can be changed from drabness to beauty, from cheerlessness to enviable charm, and from prosaic utility to inviting usefulness, with such ease, satisfaction, and at such a reasonable cost as the bathroom.

With the major part of their efforts during the last three years concentrated on modernization work, plumbing contractors have perfected the technique of bathroom rejuvenation, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Replacement work has been speeded up, and the entire job can be accomplished with little or no inconvenience to family routine. Improved piping materials and fixtures especially adapted for modernization work, as well as more efficient methods of installation, all aid in speeding up the work and reducing the cost.

The entire cost of the handsome and colorful new bathroom may then be insured on the easy monthly payment plan established by the National Housing Act.

Crochet Your Gay Scraps of Wool Into an Afghan

Persian Garden

PATTERN 5439

Even though you have nothing on hand but tiny scraps of wool, you can fashion this lovely afghan. And the wool may be of different weights. Each block—4 1/2 inches square—can be done in different colors. And what a jeweled effect you have when done! It does indeed look like a colorful oriental tapestry. Doing each block in different colors, too, makes the work more fascinating for each is an adventure. Besides an afghan you can make lovely pillow tops or chair sets. Can't you see what a lovely and inexpensive Xmas gift these would be?

In pattern 5439 you will find complete instructions for making the afghan shown as well as pillow tops and chair sets; an illustration of the block and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

A Grange in Ohio rendered practical service to its members by inviting an expert meat-cutter of the vicinity to give a talk before one of the meetings on "How to Buy Meat," illustrating by a set of charts and with an opportunity after the talk for the asking and answering of questions. Attendance that night was large and in consequence many people are able to buy meat more economically than they were before.

RUGS BECOME "ANTIQUÉ" BY MUD BATHS IN LONDON

London (P)—Genuine "antique" Chinese carpets can be produced in a jiffy by immersing them in mud for a few days, revealed a British expert on Oriental goods in a customs suit here.

He had been accused of evading heavy duties by declaring a set of "antique" rugs at only $400, while appraisers thought them worth $1,250.

After a long explanation of the "antiquing" process, whereby the vividness of coloring is reduced, the expert finally convinced both the court and customs officials that his rugs were of the mud-bath variety.

Official Table of Socialist Votes Cast In Primary Election

The official table of Socialist votes cast in the primary election in the city of Kingston, Tuesday, as recorded in the board of elections shows that Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, Republican candidate for reelection, was favored over William B. Martin, Democrat, by a margin of 19-12.

Heiselman polled his biggest number of votes in the third ward where five socialists endorsed him. Martin's stronghold was the 12th Ward where two Socialists voted for him. John J. Schwenk, Republican, seeking reelection as Alderman-at-Large, was favored over Charles A. Burger, Democrat, by the Socialists, 15-11. Schwenk got four votes in the Third Ward and three in the Seventh. The Fifth and 12th each gave Burger two.

Abram F. Molyneux, Republican nominee for sheriff, ran way ahead of George Mutari, Democrat, polling 12 votes to two for Mutari. Mutari's votes were cast in the Fifth and 10th Wards.

J. Edward Conway, member of Assembly, looking for reelection on the Republican ticket, was endorsed by the Socialists over Walter A. Donnarumma, by the margin of 10-3 in the city. The Fifth and 10th Wards gave Donnarumma two of his votes and one was cast in the county. He was not endorsed in the Sixth Ward, where he resides, by the lone Socialist there.

Howard B. Humiston, Republican nominee for coroner, a resident of Kerhonkson, was favored by the Socialists 7-2 over Michael Gallietta, Democratic nominee.

City Tax Levies in New York Decrease

Albany, Sept. 19.—City tax levies in New York state continue to decrease, according to a report made public today by the New York State Conference of Mayors and Other Municipal Officials. The total tax levy for municipal purposes of all cities, except New York, is one and one-half per cent less this year than that in 1934, and is nine per cent less than that of 1930.

The report shows that city taxpayers are this year paying $12,000,000 less for city government than they did in 1930, despite a decrease in revenues from state-collected, locally shared taxes, and an increase in expenditures for unemployment relief.

All cities, with the exception of New York city, are raising by tax this year, for local purposes, a total of $111,527,195. The total levy last year was $113,808,822, and in 1930, when the cities first began to retrench, it was $123,016,936.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting.

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts inflame. To cure piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROIL, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROIL tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Mc Bride Drug Store say "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROIL tablets must show you the safe, clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back."—Adv.

MEETING OF CORNELL-RESCUE SOCIAL CLUB TONIGHT

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Cornell-Rescue Social Club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock and every member is asked to attend. In addition to the regular order of business, final arrangements will be made concerning the trip the combined companies plan to make to the Firemen's Home in Hudson on September 29. President Dunbar is looking for one-hundred per cent attendance at this meeting.

The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters points out that of the 36,000 fatalities resulting from automobile accidents last year, 16,000 were pedestrians. Two elements of this situation are important. One is the statistical truth that by far the greater number of pedestrians involved in accidents are doing things which they should not do. The other is that a pedestrian may be in the right, but that doesn't reduce the disadvantage at which he will always be until collision-proof armor is invented.

Jules Cambon Dies, Was Former French Ambassador to U. S.

Vevey, Switzerland, Sept. 19 (AP).—Jules Cambon, 90, former French ambassador to Washington and Berlin, and one of France's "elder statesmen," died today.

The diplomat drifted slowly into unconsciousness at midnight and died at 4 a. m., with his son and daughter at the bedside.

Cambon's brilliant diplomatic career covered nearly 60 years, from 1870 to the World War.

Although he retired to a quiet country life at the end of the World War, his counsel often was sought by those who shaped the foreign policy of France.

Jules Martin Cambon lived to hear himself called "the ablest diplomat the Third Republic has produced."

He started on his road to fame as negotiator with President McKinley of the United States in the Spanish-American War of 1898. He was at that time French ambassador to Washington, but was chosen by the queen regent of Spain as her representative.

He was the better-known half of the famous "Cambon brothers" diplomatic team, made up of Jules and Paul Cambon, which is almost legendary to the French foreign office.

Together they wielded great influence from the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 down through the World War. They were in the forefront during those ticklish negotiations which preceded the outbreak of 1914.

—Jules as ambassador to Berlin and Paul as ambassador to the Court of St. James. The latter died in 1924.

Builds Fortune in Old Age.

They rose to these high positions by strikingly parallel careers, one sometimes succeeding the other. Despite his ripe age Jules was active in the post-war era. It was said of him that he delayed building up a fortune until he was 80, at which time his income was reputed in the neighborhood of a million francs a year.

This he acquired as administrator of a large bank and various corporations.

Jules Martin Cambon was born in Paris on April 5, 1845, two years after his brother, Paul. France at that time was in one of her frequent periods of fermentation. The revolution of 1848 was in the offing and Prince Louis Napoleon already had his eyes on the throne.

Jules, as did Paul, fitted himself for the law. He fought in the war of 1870 as a captain and thereafter entered government service. He was sent to Algeria in 1873 and after a few years was recalled to the homeland to become a prefect.

In 1891 he returned to Algeria as head of its colonial government. There he got his first introduction to diplomacy by treating with Arab chieftains.

America Becomes World Power.

The French government quickly recognized his talent and six years later the foreign office made him ambassador to Washington.

America at that time was just breaking the shell of world affairs. Six months after Cambon's arrival in Washington, the Spanish-American War was unleashed. Although America suspected the French of sympathizing with the Spaniards, Cambon agreed to take over Spanish affairs in America, and when it came to making peace, he was the Spanish negotiator.

The French foreign office feared that the United States might misunderstand this mission, but Cambon completed it with American esteem and Spanish gratitude.

So great was Spanish recognition for his service, that in 1902 he was shifted to Madrid, a post his brother Paul had vacated a few years previously. After five years there, he was sent to Berlin because of his knowledge of African affairs.

This was during the Franco-German Moroccan crisis, one of the outstanding phases of pre-war diplomacy.

Following the World War, he was named president of the council of ambassadors, charged with supervising application of the treaty of Versailles. He also was named secretary general of the French foreign office, but resigned that post in 1922 to become a banker.

In his later years he wrote several books and articles on French foreign policy and his "Diplomate" (The Diplomat) still is used as a handbook for foreign office recruits.

Stopped Spanish War.

Jules Cambon's five years in Washington and seven years in Berlin were the high points of his career.

During the negotiations for peace in Washington, he was a daily visitor at the White House. One of the stories he loved to tell was how the Spanish-American War was stopped when William R. Day, secretary of state, took his word for it that he was empowered by Spain to sign.

"On that day," he said, "humanity triumphed over formalities."

With President McKinley and Secretary Day he worked out the terms of peace. The Philippine Islands and Puerto Rico were ceded to the United States in return for the payment of $20,000,000.

Cambon felt that these were very advantageous peace terms for Spain; he said later that Spain was fortunate to escape paying an indemnity, let alone to receive money from the United States.

Harry Sills Not Guilty of Assault

Harry Sills of Kingston was acquitted of the charge of assault in the third degree, in court Monday morning before Police Justice Charles H. Bennett. The complaint in the action was Isaac B. Trowbridge of Kingston.

The charge against Sills was the outcome of an alleged assault which took place at the Blackstone Inn, in the early morning of August 23rd last. Following the fracas, Trowbridge, who was said to have received a beating, had Sills arrested, charging that he was the assailant.

At the hearing Monday morning, attorney Grant M. Brinley appeared for Sills and the People were represented by attorney J. Edward Conway of Kingston.

Testimony as deduced from prosecution witnesses, failed to substantiate the charge. It developing that Trowbridge, on examination, was unable to state definitely who his assailant was. The court thereupon dismissed the charge against Sills, and he was released.

Snyder Paints Gloomy Picture of Impending Crisis All Over World

Kingston Traveler Speaks Wednesday Before Rotary Club, Sees Oblivion Ahead for Mussolini, Possible Russian Strife.

ERA OF HATRED
Finds Russian Children Caught in Great Experiment, Undernourished, Personalities Submerged.

To get off a boat after a journey totaling thousands of miles in 35 days is bad enough, but to rush swiftly to Kingston after docking and deliver an address before the local Rotary Club is the ultimate in speed and agility. Members and guests of the local service club saw and heard such a specimen of human velocity in the person of Fred Snyder yesterday noon in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. Snyder, tired from constant traveling by sea and filled with a wealth of startling information gleaned from his travels throughout Russia, contributed one of the most noteworthy discussions Kingston Rotary members have had the pleasure of listening to this year. It was a speech filled with alarm and Mr. Snyder's well known optimism was clouded by the gigantic forces of hatred and chaos which move in the disjointed world of today.

Intangible Forsaken
He spoke mostly of Russia and painted a grim picture of a nation which has forsaken the intangible things of life for the sterner belief that man and his destiny is not important, that religion has no part in the scheme of things and that humanity is a machine to serve the exacting purposes of the state. "And yet," said Mr. Snyder, "there is no communism in Russia today. Soviet Russia has the greatest class distinction of any nation on earth and the practice of communism will not be found there. But Russia's chief export to other countries today is the exportation of a doctrine of communism, with two forces of variance as to the best method of saturating the world mind in its beliefs. On the one hand is Stalin, present ruler of Russia, who believes in making Russia the practical example of communism, so much so that other nations will follow its example. And on the other hand is the deposed Trotsky, whose dream is to paint the entire world in the red glow of his political faith. Despite the fact that Trotsky is an exile and a sick man, his disciples are working in every nation on earth to sow the seeds of world revolt against democracy and capitalism."

Country of Contrasts
Mr. Snyder said that Russia at present is a country of contrasts, a nation of failures and great successes, a nation that takes joy in sneering at religion, a nation that detests everything that capitalism stands for. "An official of the Russian regime told me," said the speaker, "that Russia started with nothing and will work up to the point where it has everything." In Mr. Snyder's belief this was a direct contrast to the United States for we have everything and are doing nothing with it.

While in Russia, the speaker had numerous experiences of interest. While journeying from Moscow to Leningrad his train was robbed and the only people who escaped having their personal belongings confiscated were the eight Americans aboard the train. "The robbers realized," said Mr. Snyder, "that America was in the grip of a depression and realized that we had nothing of value to take. To show how justice works in Russia, the speaker explained that the train conductors were lined up and shot a few hours after the incident."

Russian Observations
Mr. Snyder journeyed through the magnificent new Russian subway and found it the most elaborate thing of its kind in the world. He also saw how easy it is to marry and divorce in Russia for the marriage ceremony takes about three minutes and the divorce arrangement takes about a minute and a half. A man can marry and divorce three times a year, but if he beats that quota, the officials check up on him to discover the reason. He also visited factories where peasants were learning to operate modern machinery. But the most heart-breaking thing in all Russia, in Mr. Snyder's eyes, was the fact that wherever he went he found Soviet children and little people who didn't know how to smile. "And the youth of Russia are a fine lot," said the speaker. "Youngsters who have been caught in the birth pains of a great experiment. Many are sick from lack of food and all of them have been steeped in the belief that the individual is unimportant and that the mass must work for the betterment of the state. They have been schooled to ridicule Christianity and democratic nations have become something to scorn in song and speech."

Children for It Done.
Mr. Snyder was well known to his listeners for he has spoken to Kingston audiences many times before. He has the ability to drive himself like a wedge into the center of world events and when he began discussing the Italian-Ethiopian situation, his audience knew that Mr. Snyder would ultimately find himself in his famous habit of forecasting the repercussions of this great world event to the world at large. Mr. Snyder saw Britain drawn into the controversy and he saw Mussolini leading for disaster and oblivion whether he gave up the idea of fighting or went into it. He called Mussolini a synthetic statesman, mad with the thought of power. He pictured the world today in a jumbled state of chaos with no nation strong enough to lead the way to Hitler. He saw internal strife in Germany brewing and ready to explode in the near future. He saw Japan watching and waiting while Russia completes the job of building herself into a mighty mili-

Snyder Paints Gloomy Picture of Impending Crisis All Over World

Kingston Traveler Speaks Wednesday Before Rotary Club, Sees Oblivion Ahead for Mussolini, Possible Russian Strife.

Finds Russian Children Caught in Great Experiment, Undernourished, Personalities Submerged.

To get off a boat after a journey totaling thousands of miles in 35 days is bad enough, but to rush swiftly to Kingston after docking and deliver an address before the local Rotary Club is the ultimate in speed and agility. Members and guests of the local service club saw and heard such a specimen of human velocity in the person of Fred Snyder yesterday noon in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Intangible Forsaken
He spoke mostly of Russia and painted a grim picture of a nation which has forsaken the intangible things of life for the sterner belief that man and his destiny is not important, that religion has no part in the scheme of things and that humanity is a machine to serve the exacting purposes of the state. "And yet," said Mr. Snyder, "there is no communism in Russia today. Soviet Russia has the greatest class distinction of any nation on earth and the practice of communism will not be found there. But Russia's chief export to other countries today is the exportation of a doctrine of communism, with two forces of variance as to the best method of saturating the world mind in its beliefs. On the one hand is Stalin, present ruler of Russia, who believes in making Russia the practical example of communism, so much so that other nations will follow its example. And on the other hand is the deposed Trotsky, whose dream is to paint the entire world in the red glow of his political faith. Despite the fact that Trotsky is an exile and a sick man, his disciples are working in every nation on earth to sow the seeds of world revolt against democracy and capitalism."

Country of Contrasts
Mr. Snyder said that Russia at present is a country of contrasts, a nation of failures and great successes, a nation that takes joy in sneering at religion, a nation that detests everything that capitalism stands for. "An official of the Russian regime told me," said the speaker, "that Russia started with nothing and will work up to the point where it has everything." In Mr. Snyder's belief this was a direct contrast to the United States for we have everything and are doing nothing with it.

While in Russia, the speaker had numerous experiences of interest. While journeying from Moscow to Leningrad his train was robbed and the only people who escaped having their personal belongings confiscated were the eight Americans aboard the train. "The robbers realized," said Mr. Snyder, "that America was in the grip of a depression and realized that we had nothing of value to take. To show how justice works in Russia, the speaker explained that the train conductors were lined up and shot a few hours after the incident."

Russian Observations
Mr. Snyder journeyed through the magnificent new Russian subway and found it the most elaborate thing of its kind in the world. He also saw how easy it is to marry and divorce in Russia for the marriage ceremony takes about three minutes and the divorce arrangement takes about a minute and a half. A man can marry and divorce three times a year, but if he beats that quota, the officials check up on him to discover the reason. But the most heart-breaking thing in all Russia, in Mr. Snyder's eyes, was the fact that wherever he went he found Soviet children and little people who didn't know how to smile. "And the youth of Russia are a fine lot," said the speaker. "Youngsters who have been caught in the birth pains of a great experiment. Mr. Snyder saw Britain drawn into the controversy and he saw Mussolini leading for disaster and oblivion whether he gave up the idea of fighting or went into it. He called Mussolini a synthetic statesman, mad with the thought of power. He pictured the world today in a jumbled state of chaos with no nation strong enough to lead the way to Hitler. He saw internal strife in Germany brewing and ready to explode in the near future. He saw Japan watching and waiting while Russia completes the job of building herself into a mighty miliitary power. All these things and many more were pictured by Mr. Snyder, and his words pounded home the realization that the earth today is a hotbed of discord and unrest, a stick of dynamite ready to ignite when the spark is lighted. It was a talk filled with uncertainty and marked with possible disaster.

The meeting was favored with music during the meal by the Municipal orchestra, an ERB project. Mayor Heiselman was present at the meeting to hear the band play its selections and the group proved to be a competent and talented collection of musicians.

Flanagan's Shows Small Model Homes

Four of the miniature model homes which were displayed in the Herald-Tribune Better Homes contest at the Federation of Women's Clubs flower show are now being shown in the window of Flanagan's clothing store on Wall street. The display shows four of the prize winning models, including the first prize house for boys over 14 years of age. This house is a red-roofed Spanish type of bungalow made by Henry Barten of 58 Downs street. He won the prize offered by the Kingston Co-operative Savings and Loan Association.

Also displayed is the first prize winning home for boys under 14. This prize was won by Clayton Myer of 41 Downs street. The entry of Theodore Barten of 58 Downs street and the entry of Raymond Barten of 58 Downs street, which won second and third place respectively in the under-14-year-old class are also shown.

SIXTH WARD DEMOCRATS WILL MEET THIS EVENING

The Democrats of the Sixth Ward will hold an organization meeting in the newly opened headquarters at Hasbrouck avenue and St. Mary's street this evening. City Judge Culliton, Robert A. Donnarumma, and Alderman Joseph Epstein will be the speakers of the evening. At the close of the speaking refreshments will be served.

Low Bros. High Standard House Paint $3.25 Regular Price. For This Sale $2.89 per gal. All colors but white and green

Why Paint Your Home So Often?
 Perhaps that question does seem strange, coming from a paint dealer. Nevertheless, we know that you won't have to paint so often if you use LOWE BROTHERS' HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT. For HIGH STANDARD is a paint that stays new and bright much longer than paints of inferior quality, which can be bought at lower price. And of course, a paint that stays nice for an extra number of years, cuts many dollars from the per year cost of a paint job. Come in, and let us give you a free copy of LOWE BROTHERS' book on Home Decoration. By all means, see us before you paint.

Sad Sam

—By Pap

Sad Sam Jones must be made of sturdy stuff. At forty-three he goes merrily on turning in a fair share of victories for the Chicago White Sox. There isn't another active player in the big show who was wearing either the American or National League uniform back in 1914 when Jones reported to the Cleveland Indians.

He has bounced around a lot in the past 20-odd years, having worn the uniforms of the Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees, the St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators before donning the pale hose. He has had a taste of about everything the big show offers. On September 4, 1923, he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Connie Mack's Athletics. Jones shared in four world series melons, one with Boston and three with the Yankees. His record in the fall classics was a disappointment, for the best he can show for the six games he took part in is a pair of defeats. The grand old-timer boasts a total of 236 American League victories and right now has little thought of retiring to his easy chair and soft slippers.

Ace of the Fans.
My personal nomination for the post of No. 1 veteran baseball fan goes to Wilbur Held. Over fifty years ago Held, an outstanding semi-pro ball player in St. Louis, had many offers to go into organized baseball. He passed them up to take a fling at the variety stage.

Since away back in 1883 he has watched the parade of stars through the big leagues. He is always ready and willing to talk baseball. His latest story recalls the days when the New York Yankees, then known as the Highlanders, were playing in the old Hilltop park on upper Broadway. The Highlanders were playing the St. Louis Browns on the afternoon with Wilbur Held seated directly behind Hal Chase at first base. Only a scattering of fans was on hand, for the New Yorkers were nestled in the cellar. A few hundred rooters were scattered in the grand stand, 50 or 60 in the bleachers behind first and third, and in deep center field bleachers sat a lone figure resting his chin on his hands.

Call For Mr. Brown!
Just before the game, the announcer stepped in front of the grandstand and raised his megaphone. "If John Brown of Hartford is in the stands please report to the office at once. It is very important." He repeated the announcement to the group clustered around third and did the same at first, then headed for the dugout. He was halted by a huge individual who had obviously partaken too freely of the cup that cheers.

"Stop where you are! What was that you were saying?"
The announcer, blessed with a sense of humor, walked to the fan and shouted: "If John Brown of Hartford is in the stands please report to the office at once. It is very important!" And he headed for the dugout.

His departure was again delayed by the inebriate. "Stop where you are," he shouted. "That might be John Brown of Hartford out there in the center field bleachers!"

Grape Harvest Fetes
In the wine districts of Germany the annual harvest of the grapes is known as the Weinsack; the season is a time of carnival as well as labor. Throughout the day the workers in the vineyards fill their baskets with the ripe grapes and at night rather in their stillages for the festivals that are traditional. The villages that appear at intervals, homes of the vineyard workers, are striking for their sacred churches, the cleanliness of their streets and homes and the quiet tempo of the life of their citizens. At Weinsack these towns on the Rhine, the Moselle, the Saar, are stirred into new liveliness.

Picturesque Heron
The great blue heron stands as high as the American egret, is bluish gray, and the short, downy-plumaged, black-crowned night heron wears a gray, black and white plumage. Herons are mistaken for cranes. Herons always carry their necks in S-bend; cranes carry theirs straight. Another is the highly decorative blue and white green heron.

Apple Knockers
Defeat Chevrolets
In Deciding Game

The contest between Kaplan's Old Catskill Apple Knockers and the Chevrolets for the championship in the senior softball league was settled at the Fair Grounds Wednesday night when the Apple Knockers took the second and decisive game of the series by a score of 13 to 5.

Ben Fein, the winner's ace pitcher, was a little shaky at the start and the Chevys had a five to four lead when the Apple Knockers came to bat in the fourth and pounded out three runs, making two more in the fifth and four in the sixth, while the Chevys were unable to make further headway.

Fourteen hits were made off of Ben Toffel, pitching for the losers, who was further handicapped by the fact that eight errors were charged against his teammates.

A Cutty Mouth

The corn borer was unknown in America until 1817, when it was discovered near Boston. In Europe, however, it had been plaguing farmers for many years before that. How did it cross the Atlantic? It is difficult to say. But since the spread of shipping and overseas trade no country is safe from insect invaders. America is a particular victim of the unwanted visitors. No Ellis Island can keep at bay. Out of 73 of her worst pests, 37 have been introduced from other lands. A few years ago, a chemist brought a specimen of a certain moth to his home in America so that he could study its habits. The moth escaped.—Answers Magazine.

Finds That Baer
Is a Little "Edgy"

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Speculator, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Max Baer is a little "edgy" today, a little argumentative.

If you take those signs as indications of perfect physical condition, which fight handlers do, then the erratic Californian is ready to duel Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium Tuesday night.

For instance, a reporter from a New York newspaper whose sports editor favors the other fellow, got a little close to the big curly head. Baer casually dropped a short right hand punch on the writer's shoulder. "Take that back to your editor," he growled.

Now the reporter can't write on a typewriter. He has to dictate his stories.

Baer is getting mean in his training ring. Down so fine at 211 pounds that some of the visiting trainers and experts crowding his camp think he is overdoing it, Max is evening up for past indignities.

He smashed George Turner of Tulsa around yesterday, after the 19-year-old 190-pounder had made a punching bag of him for a couple of days. He knocked down Abe Feldman, a real heavyweight, for the first time in Feldman's busy career.

Max and his brother, Buddy, another promising heavyweight, are getting farther and farther apart. There may be a fine warm-up battle there before Max gets into the ring with the negro sensation. Even the experts, trained down fine, are getting edgy. One of the visiting experts, Ed Edgar, of Detroit, got so worked up when he drew Baer to win by a knockout in one round in the traditional dollar camp pool, that he sold his share for a dime. Baer will cut down sharply on his boxing from now on, though he plans to put on the gloves every day through Sunday.

Braddock Inclined To Lean Toward Louis

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—Here's a tip for Max Baer on how he can whip Joe Louis at the Yankee stadium Tuesday night and it comes from no other than John Roxborough, manager of the Detroit Bomber.

"The only chance Baer has to beat Joe is to slip over a low left-handed punch in the first round, paralyze Louis and then nail him with a right," declared Roxborough. "Understand I am not saying that Max will do that," added Joe's manager, "but if he tosses one low blow, it will be just too bad. We will start throwing them too. We may lose the round but I am sure we can afford to lose more than Baer." James J. Braddock, who lifted the heavyweight crown from Baer in June, agrees with Roxborough in that Max will be in for the fight of his life next week. And he didn't overlook his battle with the former champion.

"I won't say for certain until I see Baer work at Speculator Friday, but right now I'm kinda inclined to lean toward Louis," said Braddock after watching the 21-year-old Detroit fighter work out. "Max can hit as hard or harder than this boy, but he's got to watch out. Louis hits faster and oftener."

Except for another boxing session Saturday, Louis is all through with hard work. He planned to do only light work today, Friday and Sunday.

Erin's Caseys Of Kerry
Loom Large In Athletics

Tralee, Ireland (AP)—The Caseys of Kerry are prepared to compete against any family in the world in boxing, wrestling, rowing or tug-o-war.

There are seven Caseys to be considered, and they are regarded as the huskiest bunks of humanity that Ireland has ever presented to the world in one family. Statistically, they are as follows:
Steve, 25 years old, 6 feet 2 inches, 224 pounds.
Pat, 24 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 183 pounds.
Jack, 23 years, 5 feet, 10 inches, 180 pounds.
Tom, 21 years, 6 feet, 208 pounds.
Mike, 20 years, 5 feet 11 inches, 180 pounds.
Jim, 19 years, 6 feet, 210 pounds.
Dan, the "baby" of the family, aged 16 years, and already 161 pounds.

All were fishermen in the village of Billough. The example of their father, who became a crack oarsman in America, filled the Casey boys with ambition. They won every rowing competition in the south of Ireland, then turned to tug-o-war and won the Munster championship.

Restless for excitement, Steve went to London 18 months ago and turned to wrestling and so far has not been beaten. Tom, Pat and Mike followed Steve to London and all four joined the Ace Rowing Club. At Mortlake they won the senior fours against 30 crews and seemed destined for Olympic honors.

But wrestling and boxing have claimed them and they are now out for world fame, individually, as a group, or as a family.

CENTRAL HUDSON OUTFIT
TO PLAY SOFTBALL TONIGHT

The Central Hudson "Stars" managed by Ben Short, will meet the Central Hudson "Yannigans," led by "Dickie" Buhl, this evening at 6 o'clock sharp, at the Fair Grounds.

The two teams are composed of employees of the Central Hudson and considerable rivalry exists between the clubs. Rieman and Tongue will form the battery for the "Stars," while Black and Hoffman will work for the "Yannigans."

Alumni To Practice Tonight
The Kingston High School Alumni football team will meet at the Athletic Field at 6:15 tonight for practice.

Of 54 men listed in the pre-season football census from University of California, only one is from outside the state. Bob Gilbert, up from the frosh, is from Portland, in the neighboring state of Oregon.

The STANDINGS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The pennant-hungry Cubs have gobbled up another record on their way toward the National League title, just about wrecking the hopes of the Giants.

The Cubs routed the Giants 15 to 3 yesterday for their 15th straight triumph, holding their 2½-game margin over the second-place Cardinals and putting the Giants 6½ games to the rear.

The victory gave them not only the longest winning streak in either circuit this season but the longest in the National League since Brooklyn hit the 15-mark in 1924.

Charley Grimm's clouting crew looked good enough to go on almost indefinitely without a loss. Trailing 1-2 as they came to bat in the fourth inning they battered Clyde Castleman and Harry Gumbert for eight runs in one frame and sewed up the game.

Charley Root, who pitched steadily all the way, whiffed three Giants in the fifth. In the next frame the Cubs made three straight errors to load the bases, then retired the side without a run.

With a crowd of 33,000 out yesterday and more than 90,000 for the three games of the series, the Cubs looked forward to another big afternoon today in the windup of the important struggle.

With another win Chicago would need only four more victories in seven starts to keep the Giants out of the struggle. Bill Lee was the nomination to pitch, while Carl Hubbell was expected to oppose him.

The Cards, with eleven games to go against Chicago's eight, came from behind to trim the Dodgers 6 to 3. A bad sixth inning put Bill Hallahan in the hole as Pepper Martin, subbing in the outfield for the injured Terry Moore, contributed an error to a two-run Dodger rally.

But the Cards smashed back with four straight hits off Tom Zachary and Bobby Reis to take the lead in the seventh and win behind Paul Dean's relief flinging.

In the American League, the Yankees delayed the final settlement a little longer by breaking even with the Browns in a double header while the Tigers dropped a 4-3 decision to the Red Sox.

A five-run rally in the eighth gave St. Louis a 7 to 4 triumph in the opener but the Yanks came back behind Johnny Broaca, to win 8 to 3. Wes Ferrell's ninth inning pinch hit off schoolboy Rowe was the wallop that beat Detroit.

These three games left the Tigers eight games ahead with ten games to go for them and eleven for the Yanks.

The Cleveland Indians, who led the Athletics 10 to 5 and 10 to 6 with Mel Harder pitching four-hit ball in the second for his 20th victory.

The Senators beat the White Sox 5 to 4 and 3 to 1. The opener was won in the last inning.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati won single games in the National League, the Pirates beating the Braves 5 to 2 for Cy Blanton's 18th triumph and the Reds turning back Philadelphia 6 to 5 with a three-run ninth-inning spurt.

Terry Picks Cubs And Tigers for Series

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—Bill Terry, manager of the vanquished Giants, favors the Cubs to conquer the Cardinals in the final furious stretch drive for the National League championship.

He can see nothing but the Cubs playing the Detroit Tigers in the World Series.

The leader of the Giants made this prediction today as his players faced the Cubs in the final and fourth game of a series, in which they have been beaten three straight games.

Asked his choice between the Cubs and Cardinals, Terry replied:

"Why the Cubs the way they are going. They are playing way over their heads. They are 'hot' right now just like the Cardinals were last year. Everything they do turns out in their favor. It's just one of those things nobody can explain."

With this off his chest and with a big black cigar stuck in his mouth, Terry sauntered down the steps of the club house looking as though he had lost his last friend.

After their third straight defeat, which dropped them six and one half games behind the pace setting Cubs, the Giants appeared to be the most down trodden group of athletes in existence. They were sullen, irritable and inclined to do no talking even among themselves. Terry was the last to leave the clubhouse and he was in no spirit to talk.

The Cubs walloped the Giants in 10 of their last 11 games, and yesterday's brutal 15 to 3 lacing, the worst of the season, was enough to give them the jitters. Yesterday's crushing defeat virtually knocked the Giants right out of the National League championship picture.

Cornell-Rescues Accept Challenge

The letter of Manager Dederick of the Board of Public Works softball team, in which he intimated that the victory gained by the Cornell-Rescues in their last game with his team had been in the nature of a "fluke" and in which he issued a challenge for a third game, has brought a reply from Manager Al Vogel of the C. & R. aggregation. Manager Vogel, after "making a few remarks," accepts the B. P. W. challenge and says that the Cornell-Rescues will play them any time they are ready. He writes:

September 18, 1935.

Sports Editor,
Kingston Daily Freeman.

Dear Sir:

I wish to make a reply to the letter published in last night's Freeman concerning the softball game played between the Cornell-Rescue Social Club and the B. P. W. Monday night at Athletic Field. Manager Dederick said his team was "fooling around" and made no attempt to win the game. An alibi of this sort shows poor sportsmanship on his part. The scorer for the B. P. W. was poor at judging between hits and errors as he recorded only eight hits for the C. & R. team while they really had 16 clean hits. The correct score is as follows:

Cornell-Rescue—18 runs, 16 hits, 2 errors.

B. P. W.—3 runs, 9 hits, 8 errors. This should convince any softball fan that the game was far from being a "fluke" as Mr. Dederick described it. Speaking for the Cornell-Rescue Club, I accept the challenge the B. P. W. has issued and state that we will play them any time they are ready. I am sure that if they play us with their regular lineup we will prove that we earned every one of our 41 victories this year and make no alibi for the seven setbacks we experienced.

Yours in sport,

AL VOGEL,
Bok's Mgr. C. & R. Club.

Yale's New Deal Turns Alphabetical

By LOUIS G. BLACK

(This is another of a series of stories dealing with football prospects of major colleges and conferences.)

New Haven, (AP)—The "new deal" in Yale football, inaugurated so successfully under Head Coach Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond last season, has reached the alphabetic stage.

The curly-haired leader of the Blue believes Yale's 1935 football fortunes depend on the manner in which his "L" men respond to the coaching. Pond especially is concerned about the development of a couple of "G" men, a good "C" man and a capable "T" man. His "B" men are "O. K.," says Pond, beaming over his backfield material.

What the square-jawed Yale coach meant was that the middle of his line is the weak spot in the Yale gridiron pattern and the situation promises to be acute unless two guards, a center and a tackle can be developed to face the Elis' opponents on fairly even terms. An abundance of backfield veterans is the only cheerful note in an otherwise gloomy picture.

"Iron Men" Are Gone

Pond bases his pessimism on the loss of six of the "iron men" who were prominent last year as the Blue upset Princeton and climaxed its campaign in triumph over Harvard to annex the "Big Three" honors.

In all, Pond lost 13 "Y" men including Strat Morton and Stan Pulver backs, Jim DeAngelis, center, Captain Dave Curtin and Ben Grosscup guards, and Merdith Scott tackle. Pond's main task is to replace Curtin, Grosscup and DeAngelis.

Yale coach said that although spring football practice failed to disclose anything spectacular, he did have a glimpse of some "interesting freshmen."

As a foundation, Pond has Captain Kim Whitehead, Jerry Roscoe, Danie Rankin, Tom Curtin and Bob Schultz veteran backs, Larry Kelley and Bob Traft regular ends, Henry Wright, varsity tackle, and two other lettermen—Webb Davis, the outstanding guard candidate, and John Hovsov, end.

Sophs For Reserves

There's no doubt in Pond's mind that his replacements must come from last year's freshman class. Among them whom the former Yale football and baseball star has included as promising are:

Dave Colwell, a back who may be converted into a center, Bill Dickey, John Castle and John Snively ends, Dan Peterson, tackle, Charlie Ewart, Clint Frank, Al He-berg, backs, and Kevin Rafferty, son of a former Yale gridiron captain, end.

A great deal depends on whether Roscoe, cool-headed quarterback and the throwing end of the Roscoe-Kelley forward pass combination, and Captain Whitehead have recovered fully from appendix operation. Roscoe was laid up during the spring practice while Whitehead underwent an operation several weeks ago and is virtually certain to be kept out of the opening game against New Hampshire October 5.

Pond plans hardly any changes in the team's offense, which indicates that Yale's opponents will see plenty of passes.

Sixty-nine candidates were invited to participate in the pre-season workout at Gales Ferry, the crew headquarters on the Thames river. The Yale schedule:

Oct. 7, New Hampshire; Oct. 12, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Oct. 19, Navy; Oct. 26, Army; Nov. 2, Dartmouth; Nov. 9, Brown; Nov. 16, open; Nov. 27, Harvard at Cambridge, Mass.; Nov. 30, Princeton.

Forty-three men are on the qualified list to officiate at football games in the Pacific Coast Conference during the 1935 season.

Thousand-Gallon Still Was Seized

Federal agents on Wednesday seized a 1,000-gallon still, not in operation, on the Taylor estate on Mill street, Dover Plains, Dutchess county, and arrested four men. At the same time the agents seized a Chevrolet coupe in which they found a quantity of untaxed liquor. The coupe was registered in the name of Ross Cirimolones.

At the time the Federal men visited the farm the still was not in operation and the agents charged the four men arrested with possession of an unlicensed still and untaxed liquor.

When arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly Wednesday evening the men gave their names as Louis Barretta, Benny Bologna, Vito Gullio and Anthony Campo, all of Brewster. Gullio was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing on September 25 and the other three were held in $500 bail for a hearing on the same date. Paul Rosen of Poughkeepsie appeared for the four defendants.

The pedestrian has become standard material for the jokesmiths and cartoonists just as the hen-pecked husband or the taxpayer. No doubt we shall have a new version of the old wheeze, making it the pedestrian, not the chicken, who crosses the road to get to the other side. The premise of many jokes, that the pedestrian is a persecuted animal, does not hold water. The pedestrian is safe from any automobile if he observes a few commands: 1. Cross only at intersections. 2. Cross with the traffic signal whenever there is one. 3. Keep children off the street. 4. On rural highways walk to the left facing on coming traffic. 5. Avoid walking from behind parked cars. 6. Look!

In Memoriam
In sad and loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Mary E. Harbrough, who passed away seven years ago today, September 19, 1928. Dearest mother, thou has left us, And my loss I deeply feel. But it is God who has bereft me. He can all my sorrows heal. Yet again I hope to meet thee. When the day of life is fled. When in heaven in joy to greet thee. Where no farewell tear is shed.
DAUGHTER, MRS. A. S. MOWELL.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Marget Elsworth, widow of Abel Elsworth, died this morning at her home on Catskill avenue. Mrs. Elsworth has been ill for a long time. She is survived by one son, John, and a daughter, Mrs. Esther Weber; nine grandchildren, and one great grandchild. Funeral services will be held from the late home Monday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 9:30 o'clock a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Hazel A. Gronoll, wife of Rudolf Gronoll, died early this morning following a long illness. She had resided in New Salem about seven years and had endeared herself to a very large circle of friends. She was an accomplished pianist and was descended from the well known Korff family, who were all prominent in music in Germany and New York. She leaves besides her husband, four brothers, Fred, Arthur, John and Carl Korff, all of New York city, and Miss Eleanor Korff of Saranac Lake, N. Y. The funeral will be held from her late home at New Salem, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in St. Remy cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Florence Scutt of Port Ewen died this afternoon following a short illness. A resident of Delaware county the greater part of her life she came to Port Ewen about three years ago to make her home with her son. She was a member of the M. E. Church at Stamford. Surviving are: One son, Roscoe Scutt of Port Ewen; two granddaughters, Mrs. Evelyn Pratt of Waconah, N. J., and Miss Virginia Scutt of Port Ewen; two grandsons, George Albert Scutt and Calvin Scutt of Port Ewen; also several nephews and nieces. The body may be viewed at any time at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 236 Fair street, where funeral services will be held on Saturday, September 21, at 10:30 a. m. to which relatives and friends are invited. Burial will be at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the cemetery at Harpersfield, Delaware county.

On September 13, at 9 a. m., Mrs. Eudora C. Longendyke, wife of Peter P. Longendyke, died at her home in Woodstock. Mrs. Longendyke was stricken suddenly with uremic poisoning and after two days' illness, died. In her death, Woodstock, where she had resided for the last 33 years, has suffered an untold loss, since she was greatly beloved by all who came in contact with her. Her charities never ceased, caring for the sick and aged, feeding and clothing orphans, and being actively engaged in church and civic affairs as well as numerous social organizations, she gave most generously of both her time and worldly goods. Throughout 15 years she was in business, at the "Tannery Brook House," Woodstock, greeting friends and strangers with a cheery smile and making them welcome. Here some of the most famous people of the United States have taken meals and enjoyed her hospitality, and during the regime of The Art Students League at Woodstock her place was one of the most popular rendezvous for the artists. Two years ago The Tannery Brook House was sold and Mr. and Mrs. Longendyke purchased a house adjoining the present Lutheran Church and from this home, after a very beautifully conducted service by the Rev. W. R. Peckham, a former friend and pastor, the body was carried by a delegation of uniformed Legionnaires. (Mrs. Longendyke being the only Gold Star Mother of Woodstock) and accompanied by a host of sorrowing friends and relatives was buried in the family plot at the Woodstock cemetery. The unusual number and quantity of flowers bespoke most fittingly the esteem in which the community held Mrs. Longendyke, together with the fact that many business places were closed during the hour of services. In the death of Mrs. Longendyke Woodstock has lost a beloved citizen and her memory will be honored and cherished, a woman of sterling character, a devoted wife and mother. She is survived by her husband, Peter Longendyke, her daughters, Mrs. Fannie Elwyn, Mrs. Benjamin Snyder, Mrs. Norman Elwyn, Mrs. D. J. Myers, Mrs. Fred Elwyn, and four grandchildren, Mrs. L. P. Carey, Robert Elwyn, Marjorie and Arthur Piper.

ANCIENT SKULL IS FOUND IN NEBRASKA

Said to Prove Antiquity of Man in America.

Washington.—The "second cousin" of the famous Neanderthal man—those half-ape, half-human beings that preceded mankind in Europe—once may have roamed the Nebraska plains.

After an exhaustive study of an Indian skull fragment found in the midwest state, Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, said it had decided Neanderthal characteristics, although obviously of fairly recent origin.

The fragment was discovered by Earl H. Bell of the University of Nebraska while excavating in a large mound of undetermined age near the site of a prehistoric Indian village.

The skull fragment coupled with the recently found Folsom arrowhead points proves conclusively that the America before Columbus extended back for thousands if not tens of thousands of years. The Folsom points are distinctly American in character and date from the early glacial periods approximately the same time as that of the skull fragment.

Dr. Hrdlicka found that the skull fragment had belonged to a middle-aged male Indian and was normal except in one abnormality. It had large bony ridges over the eyes, one of the prominent characteristics of the true Neanderthal skull and those of great apes. These ridges have virtually degenerated in modern mankind.

In the Nebraska Indian skull the ridges were pronounced and about half as prominent as those of the Neanderthal as compared with modern man, the anthropologist said.

Dr. Hrdlicka stressed that the skull did not indicate that Neanderthal men actually lived in America, but rather that there was some sort of ancestral connection between prehistoric Americans and Neanderthals somewhere outside America.

"We are justified in regarding such occurrences as reminiscences, more or less, of early stages in the evolution of the human skull, but not as uninterrupted connections and especially not as a safe index of the antiquity of the specimens that show such characters," Dr. Hrdlicka wrote in a report on the skull for the American Journal of Physical Anthropology.

Great Britain Prevents Sale of Spies' Secrets

London.—Secrets of Great Britain's espionage network in the days of the Napoleonic wars are believed to have narrowly escaped being revealed for the first time in Sotheby's sale rooms in London.

Their probable publication was prevented when the foreign office unexpectedly gave warning that the document in which the secrets are believed to be contained would be liable to confiscation under the official secrets act. As a result, there is considerable likelihood that they may be taken to the United States for sale.

The documents are a part of the papers of Lord Stuart de Rothesay, British ambassador in Paris early in the nineteenth century, and belong to the earl of Abingdon, who was offering the entire lot for auction.

They include a series of 52 letters from the duke of Wellington to Stuart de Rothesay between 1814 and 1830, chiefly dealing with France after the fall of Napoleon; correspondence of great importance between Stuart and Admiral Lord Berkeley, chief commander on the Portuguese coast from 1810 to 1812; "official letters and dispatches from Portugal, 1810-13," and dispatches from Lord Nelson and the duke of Wellington.

Uproot Street to Save Life of Stray Mongrel

Boise, Idaho.—It was only a mongrel dog, but no effort was spared to save its life.

The dog was trapped in an irrigation canal, its head wedged in a weed catcher. One man offered $5 to anyone who could free the dog. Another volunteered to swim down the ditch to rescue the animal.

Police and firemen were called. Street employees finally used hammer and chisels to tear up the street, ditch and concrete foundations, and the dog was freed. It feebly shook the water from its body and was on its way.

"Hermit of the Platte"

Is Alone for 69 Years

Tekamah, Neb.—The dean of Nebraska hermits is Fremont "Old Montie" Haswell, seventy-six years old, "Hermit of the Platte," who lives near the Missouri river, northeast of here. Except for two short intervals he has lived 69 years with only chickens and cats for companions on a tract home-steaded by his father in 1866.

Finds Fingerprints of Ape Like Man's

Melbourne.—When monkeys and apes are in the Melbourne zoo had their fingerprints taken by Detective L. H. Thomas, fingerprint expert, he found at first glance not even an expert could tell the difference between prints made by an ape or a large monkey and the fingerprints of a man. All the human beings, gorillas and chimpanzees were there and each print could be classified in exactly the same way as a set of human fingerprints.

A Vermont Grange meeting was recently influenced by a debate on the topic, "Resolved, that women put in more hours of actual labor per year than men." It is not recorded that there were either judges or decision, and so the question still remains unsettled.

Slugs Used on Coast

In the early 1850's, when private companies and a federal assay office were the only gold coin makers in California, "slugs" were made and imprinted with the name of the official assayer or the private concern, giving the weight and worth of the gold. These were square, rectangular or round pieces and circulated as regular money in the frontier state.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOBSON

Triple Killing And Suicide Over Estate

and a note with this inscription: "In case anything happens to me, notify Mr. Guy Wiley, Tobyhanna."

Charles R. Geary, 37, South Sterling, was an undertaker.

Wiley lives across the street from the Levan summer home, where Charles Geary lived with his wife, a pretaker.

Wiley told Capt. Rowe that John Geary had been adopted by Orlando Levan when John was two years old. Mrs. Levan and the mother of John and Charles Geary were sisters. Mrs. Geary died some years ago. Her maiden name was Koken.

Police Theory.

From questioning tenants of the four-flat building where the tragedy occurred, police pieced together the following story:

Charles drove from Tobyhanna in the early part of the evening and after a short visit with the Levan and his brother, went out with Benjamin to a nearby tavern where they had several drinks of beer.

They then returned to the apartment and the four men sat about a kitchen table discussing family affairs.

About 11 p. m., Charles left the group, walked outside, probably to where his car was parked at the back of the house, and returned a short time later.

Rowe said that Charles had probably gone out for the shotgun, loaded with six shells. As he reentered the apartment he perhaps resumed the conversation where it had been broken off, and suddenly forced the other three men to line up in front of him, hands held high and their feet to him.

He then began firing, Capt. Rowe said, from right to left, mowing down first his brother John, then Orlando Levan and finally Ben, who was found slumped face downward, his back humped in a grotesque posture, near the door. John and Orlando were shot in the back, Benjamin in the left side.

Charles then poured himself a cup of coffee, walked to the sun parlor, tipped half the contents, telephoned police, and committed suicide. In the shotgun were found two shells still unfired, four other loaded shells were in his lumberjack coat.

S. S. Dixie Refloats, Her Captain Reports

Miami, Fla., Sept. 19 (AP)—The Morgan liner Dixie, driven aground in French reef south of Miami, by the Labor Day hurricane which washed the Florida Keys, was refloated early today.

Captain E. W. Sundstorm, master of the 8,100 ton luxury coastal vessel, radioed the Associated Press the following message:

"Dixie refloated one a. m. nine-tenth."

The message contained no other details as to how the two big salvage tugs which had hauled on the ship succeeded in dragging her back into deep water.

When the ship struck the reef, she carried 334 passengers and crew. Rescue craft stood by three days before the waters calmed sufficiently for them to take off all but a skeleton force which remained aboard to aid the salvage operations.

WOMAN SUSTAINS LOSS OF EYE AS JAR EXPLODES

While Mrs. Edward Brunner of Third street, Athens, was opening a glass jar of peaches Wednesday morning the jar exploded and glass was driven into her left eye. She was taken to the Hudson City Hospital where the eye was removed by Dr. H. C. Galster of Hudson, and Dr. Norman S. Cooper, Jr., of Athens. Mrs. Brunner is the wife of the keeper of the Hudson-Athens Light-house. She has four small children.

"Shoot To Kill" Order.

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—A "shoot to kill" order was issued by Police Captain William Malone today when police started an intensive hunt for a juvenile who attacked Mrs. Helen James, 21, with a lead-weighted whip. Mrs. James, badly beaten in her home, was taken to a hospital. She was the third victim within a block in the same west side neighborhood. Her husband Orlando was taken to a chair before the madman began his attack.

Too Much Bread.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Because the city's pigeons are getting sick from eating too much bread, Mrs. Martin M. Keble, third vice president of the Humane Society of New York, has appealed to bird lovers to feed them bread. The pigeons, she said, are suffering from an epidemic of weak coughs which, unless treated in the early stages, proves fatal. She proposed that unemployed persons be given five-cent packages of bird seed to feed the birds. She herself distributes pounds daily in Central Park.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Western New York Elberta peach receipts were fairly liberal today. Demand generally was slow and the market closed dull and slightly weaker. Bushel baskets of tubs of No. 1, 2 inch fruit jobbed out at mainly $1.25-$1.50, some poorer sold down to $1 and some fine quality realized as high as $1.52-$1.75. No. 2 offerings brought 75c-$1, occasionally as high as $1.12-$1.15.

The market for apples was again entirely in the buyer's favor. Supplies were moderate with demand and trading very slow. Western New York open crates and bushel baskets or tubs on Wealthy apples N. Y. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 3/4-3 inch minimum jobbed out at 90c-$1 and 2 1/2 inch minimum and upward 65c-85c. Twenty-two No. 1, 3 inch minimum and upward, 90c-$1.12 1/2 and

Men's Club Held First Fall Meeting

The Clinton Avenue Men's Club met for their first fall meeting at Epworth Hall last night and enjoyed a fine program. The large attendance showed an interest in the activities planned for the coming season and President Ray Rignall expressed his confidence in the success of the club interests during the winter. After a period of singing and business the meeting was entertained by Bill Crosby, who sang and played both on his guitar and harmonica to the complete satisfaction of all.

The Rev. Arthur G. Carroll of St. James M. E. Church addressed the club suggesting that with a purpose, properly directed, together with cooperation, a club or individual was in the right mood to accomplish any program in today's scheme of things. He expressed his pleasure at the privilege of meeting with the other uptown Methodist Men's Club and hoped that many union activities might be realized during the year.

The Men's Club has two major activities planned for the next month, a pancake-sausage supper for October 9 and their annual chicken-pie supper for October 30, both at Epworth Hall.

After a social hour and refreshments, also a dart ball game on Bill Riel's new board, the evening came to a satisfactory close.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED FOR THE JOSEPH MEDILL

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 19 (AP)—The motorship Medill with its crew of 50 men today joined the long list of craft that have sailed away to the port of missing men.

Marine observers now fear the Medill sank with all hands in the furious storm that brought disaster to Newfoundland's fishing fleet last month. The loss of the Medill would bring the toll of that storm to more than 100 lives.

The Medill sailed in mid-August from Newcastle for Montreal. Searches of traveled waters and of other reaches where disabled craft might have been driven by the storm have been unrewarded.

Unidentified hatches have come ashore and, in the absence of reports of other craft of this size missing, it was feared they belonged to the Medill.

Two Airmen Killed.

Los Angeles, Sept. 19 (AP)—A "high line" near Municipal Airport was blamed in part today for the crash of a secretly constructed "flying fort" with the loss of two lives. Don Smith, head of a firm that built the new all-metal bomber-attack craft, said the pilot, Thomas Van Stone, was forced into a fatal turn to seek a safe landing place because high tension wires were directly ahead of him when his motor failed on a test flight yesterday. With Van Stone, 32, a former army flier, was Dugald Blue, 26, as co-pilot. Both were dead when dragged from the wreckage. In the ship when it crashed were 1,200 pounds of lead, the weight equivalent of bombs it was built to carry in military work, as well as four 30 calibre machine guns designed to be fired from the wings in raking infantry.

See War As Certain.

Bradford, Eng., Sept. 19 (AP)—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's World War prime minister, declared today: "We are within a week or a fortnight of a war of aggression." The aggressive Weimann, addressing a regional conference of the council for action for peace and reconstruction, continued: "It will be as great a war of aggression as the attack of Germany upon Belgium. That frankly, I am alarmed. It seems to me the world is heading for a very great catastrophe." Over the week-end, Lloyd George attacked the international peace-makers for having back while Italy went ahead with preparations for war. Today he expressed his demand to know why there had been "incomprehensible and quite inexcusable" delay.

New Slant On Gotham.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—This city, viewed from a new slant by the mayor's committee on city planning: Business districts so congested that they stock buildings as many as 102 stories high. Residential areas so crowded that 2,871 persons live on one block, more than 2,000 on each of seven. And approximately 15,000 acres of vacant lots.

Campbell Arrested.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Police disclosed that they picked up and questioned Joseph Campbell, 29, of Philadelphia, in connection with the death of Harry Dolbow, farmer of Salem county, N. J. Salem county authorities declined to say what they sought to learn from him. Mrs. Margaret Dolbow and her reputed friend, Norman Dolbow, pleaded the innocent Tuesday to any part in her husband's death.

Minstrel and Dance.

A minstrel show and dance will be held Friday evening at the Creek Locks School District No. 3, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The program will be held in the school.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Sept. 19—Mrs. Sarah Robinson and Mrs. James Millard of Kingston were recent callers at the home of Mrs. Virgil Britt on Salem street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Semon, Jr., and family, who spent the summer in the Whitecraft house on Broadway, have returned to their home in Slighsburg.

Mrs. Franklin Turck of Kingston is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Terwilliger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holliday and Mrs. Virgil Britt attended the annual reunion of the "Old Twentieth" Tuesday at Epworth Hall, Kingston. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a clam chowder sale in the church house at 11 o'clock Friday morning. Orders for chowder may be telephoned to Mrs. John Lynn or Mrs. Sarah Clark.

Mrs. Victor Osborne of Worcester is spending some time with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Terwilliger, of Bowne street.

Hauptmann Reports Are Denied Today

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—C. Lloyd Fisher, attorney for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today denied published reports, not carried by the Associated Press, that Hauptmann had been offered commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment if he would name his alleged associates in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

"No such offer was ever made to me or any one else connected with the defense," Fisher said. "No one officially or unofficially connected with the state has approached us, we wouldn't be interested in any such offer because we feel Hauptmann is innocent."

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, also said he knew nothing of the reports, and that neither had Hauptmann's regular callers—his wife, lawyers and spiritual adviser—had visited him.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, who was appearing in a Long Branch court case, said, "Hauptmann has been offered nothing. There is absolutely no truth in any stories that Hauptmann has been offered life or anything else."

AAA May Ask Change In the Potato Law

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The AAA, declaring it lacks funds to enforce a compulsory potato control plan which is beset by criticism, may resort to a voluntary one involving benefit payments to growers.

This was indicated yesterday by Secretary Wallace who also told reporters that it was "quite possible" that the AAA would ask the next congress to modify the potato act contained in the recently enacted agricultural adjustment amendments. The act provides for a tax of three-fourths of a cent a pound on all potatoes produced in excess of a national allotment and provides heavy penalties for both seller and buyer of potatoes sold in violation of the law.

Wallace said yesterday that application had been made to the treasury for funds to administer the law until congress meets.

Police Fear Kidnaping

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 19 (AP)—Sheriff Hugh Blacklock, directing a force of 150 officers in a widespread search for 11-year-old Marian Hansen, expressed fear today that the girl had been kidnapped on her way home from school Wednesday. Blacklock said he had been informed that a man described as "red-headed and blond" had attempted both Monday and Tuesday mornings to lure the child into an automobile as she was en route to the school. Marian has not been seen since shortly after she was excused at recess yesterday when she complained of being ill.

Victim of Hit-Run Driver.

Oswego, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—Everett Smith, 60, of 121 Yale avenue, Oswego, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was walking along the Central road near the estate of Col. David Abercrombie. Chief of Police Charles Romane said police were unable to find any view as to the driver of the car which struck Smith. The body was removed to Oswego.

Aloisi Remains.

Geneva, Sept. 19 (AP)—An Italian source said today that the fact Baron Pompeo Aloisi, chief Italian delegate to the League of Nations, was remaining in Geneva indicated that Premier Mussolini had found the League's Italo-Ethiopian compromise plan unacceptable.

The source, close to the Italian delegation, added that the baron's remaining here suggested that it would be no need for a conference in Rome with Baron Aloisi.

Delegates discussed the statements made yesterday by Italian spokesmen here and in Rome that the compromise plan was "absolutely unacceptable as a basis for negotiation."

Many of the delegates expressed the opinion that the concentration of a powerful British fleet in the Mediterranean would result in a more serious development in case of a collective economic boycott against Italy as a penalty for aggression.

Wild Bull Market In Tokio and Osaka

Tokyo, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Tokyo and Osaka stock exchanges stayed open until 6:30 p. m. today—three and one-half hours beyond their usual closing time—in a wild bull market based on the war scare.

Transactions reached record highs, the greatest since the establishment of exchanges in 1878.

In the Tokyo market, 1,133,000 shares changed hands; in Osaka the trading was 1,174,000 shares.

At the same time there were popular manifestations of sympathy with Ethiopia in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis. Banners emblazoned with huge slogans, "Down with Italy!" and "Rescue Ethiopia!" waved over a crowd of 2,000 persons who welcomed Daba Birrou, Ethiopian former foreign office official, upon his arrival at the Tokyo railway station from Osaka where he has been visiting since September 14.

Birrou proceeded to the plaza before the imperial palace and made obeisances in the direction of Emperor Hirohito, whom he did not see. He then visited the foreign office and met a minor section chief.

Japanese officials said Birrou ranked merely as secretary to Chuzaburo Yukawa, a Japanese holding the position of honorary Ethiopian consul at Osaka, and that he would not contact higher government authorities.

The word "tabu" is of Polynesian origin and was first introduced to English speaking people by Captain Cook in the eighteenth century.

Talmadge Challenge Seen in Roosevelt's Future Atlanta Speech

Atlanta, Sept. 19 (AP)—A challenge to the political strength of Governor Eugene Talmadge was seen today by many Georgians in the published report that President Roosevelt would open his southern campaign for renomination with a speech in Atlanta.

Talmadge, Democratic governor and bitter critic of the President, was carrying on his fight against Mr. Roosevelt in a series of speeches in the middle west when the Atlanta engagement was announced.

The Atlanta Constitution said Mr. Roosevelt would speak here late in November, when he will be on his annual visit to Warm Springs.

It was added that in accepting the invitation extended by the Georgia congressional delegation, Mr. Roosevelt said the speech would be delivered during Thanksgiving week.

At Hyde Park, N. Y., aides of the President said there was no immediate indication of an announcement by Mr. Roosevelt on his candidacy in Georgia during his fall visit to Warm Springs.

Senators Richard B. Russell, Jr., and Walter F. George are in charge of arrangements for the occasion. They expect the speech to be delivered at Grant Field, Georgia Tech's football stadium, which will seat over 50,000 persons.

Governor Talmadge came to an open break with the President several months ago when he criticized New Deal policies and declared the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt "would be a calamity."

Last night he carried his criticism in a speech in Illinois, and today he was booked for another at Des Moines, Iowa.

The governor inaugurated his present trip in New Orleans before the Veterans of Foreign Wars, where he lauded the late Senator Huey P. Long. Since the death of the Louisiana senator, Talmadge has loomed as a leading opponent for Mr. Roosevelt's renomination.

Governor Talmadge has refrained from stating whether he will enter the primary against the President, but many of his followers expect him to do so.

In the hands of the Talmadge-dominated state committee rests the decision of whether Georgia will hold a Presidential preferential primary. That has been the custom for several years, but the committee could name the delegates without a primary.

Mineral production in Ontario during the first six months of 1935 was higher than in any corresponding period of previous years.

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

London — A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Moscow today said the Polish balloon "Polonia" landed in Noviya, Stalingrad district, leaving only one balloon unreported in the Gordon Bennett International Balloon Race from Warsaw. The balloon from which no news has been received, the dispatch said, was the German "Erich Deuk."

Harbin, Manchoukuo—Harold L. Parquhar, the flying British diplomat, and his German companion and co-pilot, Fritz Bleier, landed their plane on the Sungari river today after an easy flight from Khabarovsk. The two fliers, who started from Mexico City last month, said they intended to go on to Tientsin, on their way to Moscow, after spending several days here.

Vatican City—Cardinal Piacelli, Vatican secretary of state, had a lengthy conference today with Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, the papal nuncio in Berlin, who reported on the situation of the Roman Catholics in Germany. Prelates said that important decisions might be made.

Paris—Conchita Montenegro, Spanish motion picture actress, and Raoul Roulien, Brazilian actor, were married here today, after a romance that began in Hollywood.

Chungking, China—Consternation and despair among the incredulous people of Szechuen Province followed today upon Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's withdrawal of the province's bank notes at a 20 per cent discount. Until today, the public has regarded the generalissimo's orders as a rumor, but the accomplished fact precipitated a virtual financial panic.

MOONEY FIGHTS ON FOR FREEDOM

Tom Mooney is shown as he stepped from prison at San Quentin, Calif., to attend habeas corpus hearings in San Francisco, the latest phase of his 19 year-old battle for freedom. His counsel hopes to prove that Mooney was convicted of the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb explosion by perjured testimony. (Associated Press Photo)

Driest August in Past Twelve Years

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 19—From record-breaking rains in July to a severe drought in August, reports indicate that New York state's weatherman must have had a grudge against the Empire State.

August, 1935, was the driest August in the past twelve years, according to the general summary of weather conditions for the month by the weather bureau maintained at Cornell by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Rainfall averaged one and one-half inches below normal in the state. The eastern plateau averaged about two inches below normal, and the shortage in the Hudson valley well over two inches. The Atlantic coastal region averaged nearly three inches below normal. A few stations in the western half and scattered elsewhere reported a slight excess of rainfall for the month."

"August as a whole was moderately warm. Light frost was reported in a few scattered places on the 25th, with little or no damage. "Severe thunderstorms on August 1 caused much damage in various sections of the state. Most damage resulted in the area from Genesee county southeastward to Schuyler county. High winds and hail accompanied the storms in this region. The hail caused thousands of dollars damage to fruits, grains, beans, and other crops, the greatest loss to fruit being in the vicinity of Keuka and Seneca lakes. Much damage also resulted to roofs, windows and automobile tops."

Fruit Suffers. "In the vicinity of Hector, Schuyler county, one report estimated the hail damage to fruit at about $500,000. In scattered places, the high winds wrecked barns and silos, damaged houses, uprooted trees and tore down telephone lines. In Ithaca a horse valued at $500 was electrocuted by a live wire blown down by high winds.

"In St. Lawrence county, four barns near Norwood were burned after being struck by lightning, at an estimated loss of $5,000. One person was killed by lightning near Potsdam.

"In the vicinity of Peru, Clinton county, heavy hail caused an estimated loss of $50,000 to crops, with the most damage to apples. On August 4, heavy hail in the vicinity of Peru and Ausable Chasm resulted in damage estimated at $250,000. About $100,000 damage was to the apple crop, while grains, corn and gardens suffered severely. Windrows and roofs were also battered.

"On August 12, severe thunderstorms with hail and high winds caused much damage in southwestern New York. At Westfield an estimated damage of $3,000 was caused to power and light lines; lightning fired a barn near Stockton at a loss of $3,000, and a barn near Dunkirk at a loss of $1,500; and in northern Chautauque county peach and apple orchards suffered an estimated loss of $10,000," the report concludes.
